MUCH ENTHUSIASM FOR NEW HIGHWAY

Is Reported by Dr. Hume to Rotary Club—Members to Give Boys Christmas Dinner.

Members of the Richmond Rotary Club heard of the enthusiasm which is evident in Estill, Lee, Clay, Owsley and other mountain counties for the building of the Kenton Highway from Lexington through to Manchester and on to Pineville from Dr. O. F. Hume at the regular meeting Tuesday.

E. W. Powell also gave a splendid talk on the plans for boys' work and the Christmas dinner which is to be given to a number of youngsters by the Rotarians at the Christmas week meeting. At this time each member of the club will have as his guest some boy who might not otherwise receive a good Christmas dinner. A list of young boys about town has been prepared and each Rotarian is selecting "his boy" for the happy occasion.

The losing team in the attendance campaign pays the cost of the feeds. So far George D. Simmons' team is slightly ahead of Ed Powell's. The two teams were tied Tuesday, each having a member absent.

Dr. Hume said that Owsley county good roads boosters will endeavor to have a bond issue passed to take care of her part. He said he never saw such enthusiasm for good roads as was apparent at the meeting at Irvine last Friday night. Madison county's part of the highway has already been arranged for with the building of the Irvine pike and reconstruction of the Lexington pike so that all that is necessary here is moral support and co-operation.

County Judge John D. Goodloe and a number of members of the Fiscal Court were present as guests of the club and each made short talks when introduced. The magistrates present were:

Squires Burgin, Isaacs, Long, Jones and Tipton and Road Engineer Baxter. Will Sneed, Rotarian, of Hamilton, Ohio, was also a guest at the meeting.

President Homer W. Carpenter, just returned from conducting revival services at Birmingham, Ala., was back in the chair.

New members welcomed at this meeting were Charles A. Keith, Joe P. Chenault and W. B. Turley.

TWO WILLS PROBATED IN COUNTY COURT

Two wills were probated in county court here Monday. The last testament of the late Allen Deatherage, written March 24, 1915, leaves $50 each to his nephew, Joe Allen Deatherage, and his niece, Mary Allen Deatherage. The remainder of his estate, without inventory or appraisal, is left to his brother, Josiah Deatherage, who is named as administrator of the estate without bond. Witnesses to the will were N. B. Deatherage and John Wess McKinney.

The will of the late C. J. Sowers leaves all his property to his wife, Addie Sowers. Witnesses were Robert Long and W. L. Cotton.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The crisis in federal prohibition enforcement has been reached, in the opinion of Commissioner Haynes, it was disclosed today in reports of recent hearings before the congressional committee. In asking $9,000,000 for the next fiscal year for his department, Haynes told the committee if a similar amount is allowed the department annually for five or six years, a reduction then ought to be possible but that the critical period for enforcement now at hand. SECRETARY WALLACE REPORTS ON FARMERS

Head of Department of Agriculture Says They're In Better Shape Than Year Ago.

(Associated Press)

Washington, Dec. 6.—American farmers, comprising about one-third of the country's population, find themselves, notwithstanding their hard work and large production this year, still laboring under a serious disadvantage as compared with other groups of workers because of the disproportionate relationship of prices, Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture, told President Harding and Congress today in his annual report.

"There is food in superbundance," said Mr. Wallace, "and this contributes to the prosperity of business and industry for a time, but the inadequate return which the farmer is receiving, and has for three years, inevitably must result in readjustments in the number of people on the farms and in the cities, which will not be for the continuing good of the nation."

There has been a greatly accelerated movement of farmers, and especially farmers' sons, from the farms to the cities and industrial centers, the Secretary reported, declaring that best estimates "indicate that during July, August and September twice as many persons left the farms for the cities as normally."

The Secretary renewed his recommendation for rural credit legislation, asserting that action should be taken promptly to increase the maximum which a Farm Loan Bank may loan to an individual from $10,000 to $25,000. He advocated also a readjustment of the term loans now running, saying a system should be established by which the farmer could borrow for periods of from six months to three years.

This year would be a prosperous year for agriculture, and consequently a prosperous year for the nation, if the relationship of prices now was such as existed before the war, Secretary Wallace said. There has been some increase in the prices of farm products, but there has not been much improvement in the general relationship between the prices of the things the farmer produces and the things he buys.

Among the causes which contribute to the abnormal relationship of farm prices to the price of other things, Secretary Wallace mentioned these:

Overproduction of many farm crops; continued high freight rates; maintenance of industrial wages at near war-time levels; economic depression and depreciated currency in European countries; interference with the efficient functioning of necessary industries; unreasonably high costs of distribution of some farm products.

"Some contend that there is no such thing as overproduction of farm products and can not be so long as there are people in the world who suffer for food and clothing," said Secretary Wallace. "On the same line of reasoning it can be argued that the production of automobiles will be inadequate until every man and woman and every boy and girl of high school age owns one. There is overproduction as far as the producer is concerned."

FALLS DOWN STAIRS AND BREAKS HIP

Mrs. Hamilton, mother of Arch Hamilton, of the Kingston section, sustained a very painful and perhaps serious injury while visiting at the home of Wilgus Brandenburg on the Big Hill pike Monday. As she was starting down stairs she fell and broke her right hip. (Mrs. B. H. Gibson and L. F. Jones were called and set the fractured member and made her as easy as possible. Her many friends hope for a safe recovery.)

ed, whenever the quantity produced can not be marketed at a price which will cover all costs and leave the producer enough to tempt him to continue production. And whenever there is such overproduction the output will be reduced either by conscious effort on the part of the producers or by the operation of economic laws which drive the less efficient producers out of business. The fact is that for three years in succession the farmers of the United States have produced more of some crops than could be sold at prices high enough to cover production costs.

"It will never be possible for the farmers to relate their production to profitable demand with the plenty of the manufacturer both because they can not control the elements which influence production and cannot

BOGGS WITES ON OVERLOADED TRUCKS

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 5.—The provisions of the act of 1922 defining the limits of loads on the public highways have been outlined and sent to the county judges of the state by Joe S. Boggs, state highway engineer, so that the officials can be familiar with the act when it comes operative December 15, according to an announcement made by the Department of Public Roads and Highways. The act continues in force until April 1st.

It is incumbent upon the person using the road to know what the limit is and what type of construction it is as this determines the amount that can be hauled according to Mr. Boggs. In an opinion by Attorney General Charles F. Dawson, the road engineer is given the duty of designing what roads are high type construction.

Under the provisions of the act passed by the 1922 General Assembly, certain types of road may be used for hauling loads at an increase of fifty per cent over the former amount during the period from December 15 to April 1st. The types of road designated as "high type construction" by the State Highway Engineer are brick, rock, asphalt, concrete, bituminous concrete, penetration asphalt, penetration tar and surface treatment, macadam, etc.

In his letter to the county judges, Mr. Boggs stated that "during the winter months material damage is done to many of the public highways of the state by over-sized or overloaded motor trucks, which damage can be reduced to a minimum by the strict enforcement of the provisions of this statute."

"Your duties as county judge," the letter states, "are clearly defined in Section 2 of the act, and it is believed that you will render full co-operation in the protection of our public highways from this class of traffic during the winter time."

Can You Beat It?

Here's one from the Washington Times worth repeating: A lady of stupendous dimensions, stylishly attired, entered a shoe store and seated herself to be shod. Soon a bald-headed clerk came up to serve her. After rejecting this pair and that she decided on some brown oxfords. The clerk knelt down to lace them and she gazed about the room. Suddenly she looked down and saw the bald head. "Thinking that it was he, she rolled up her skirt and threw her shoe at him."

BALANCE of the Johnny Jones' stock must be sold out completely by Friday, Dec. 8th, regardless of cost as we must give possession of the building at once.

PAY $101,238.66 TO STATE GOVERNMENT

That's the Sum Madison County Taxpayers Send to Frankfort Thru Sheriff Deatherage.

Madison county taxpayers paid a total of $101,238.66 into the state treasury this year as their contribution to the upkeep of the state government. This is the total amount which Sheriff Deatherage has sent to the Auditor at Frankfort and for which he has received his quarterly collection of the state's part of the taxes. He has not yet settled with the county, which is usually done early in the new year. Sheriff Deatherage has received a letter from the State Auditor notifying him that there has been no change in the law with respect to date of penalty applying on delinquent taxes. The regular six per cent penalty went on December 1st and on January 1st another penalty of six per cent goes on the sheriff for all taxes not paid up.

STAMP CURSES WHEN JURY CONVICTS HIM

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 6.—Walter P. Stamp was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter Tuesday and his punishment was fixed at 15 years in the penitentiary by the jury at his second trial for the killing of W. Smith Russell on June 1, 1921.

Stamp half turned in his chair, dropped his head to his left arm on the chair back and wept.

Straightening up in his chair and looking in the direction of the jurors who were preparing to leave the courtroom, the convicted man uttered a fighting "curse word" in an angered but subdued voice.

"The ————," was his parting obscene shot at the jurymen.

Clem Huggins, Stamp's attorney, announced later that an appeal would be taken. R. C. Oldham, formerly of Richmond, was also one of Stamp's lawyers.

In his first trial Stamp was found guilty of first degree murder by a jury, which fixed his penalty at death. His lawyer made no defense at that trial and the court of appeals granted him a new hearing.

Under the law a prisoner is eligible to parole from the penitentiary at the expiration of half of his sentence, which would mean that if Stamp's appeal should be denied and the board of pardons and corrections approved his application for parole, he would serve seven and one-half years. A recent ruling of the board is that no application for parole can be made until they have served 12 years.

Reid—Risk

Miss Mary Delta Reid and Edward Baxter Risk, were quietly married at the home of the bride's foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Andrew Turpin, on Thanksgiving day at 12 o'clock. Little Anna French Edwards, in green organdie, and Virginia Edwards, in lavender, carrying pink carnations, led the way down the stairway. At the parlor door they received the white ribbons and formed the aisle to the improvised altar of pink and white lattice work, where Dr. McDougle awaited them. The bride, who entered on the arm of the groom, was girlish and pleasing in white crepe de chine, with tulle veil caught with valley lilies. She carried pink and white carnations. After the beautiful and impressive ceremony, the bride and groom led the way to the dining room where an elaborate wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Risk left on the afternoon train for a short stay in Paris and Lexington. Mrs. Risk wore a street frock of black canton crepe, banded in gold beads with tiny gold cloth hat. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Mer-

Wash Kidneys If They Hurt

Take Salts to flush Kidneys If Back pains you or Bladder bothers.

Flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much meat and rich food may form uric acid, which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weak; then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink.

estimate demand so clearly. Neither will the farmers ever be able to organize as have the labor and unions, and by rules and regulations and disciplinary measures compel obedience to policies adopted. They can, however, bring about a better adjustment of production, and especially of marketing, to the needs and purchasing ability of possible customers, if they will perfect their organizations and call to their aid men skilled in interpreting conditions which influence supply and demand. Better adjustment of farm production is worth striving for. Both the farmers and the consuming public would be benefited through more stable production and, therefore, more stable prices.

Picturing the plight of American farmers Secretary Wallace said the production records of this year furnish a vivid illustration of the vitality of American agriculture and of the courage and hopefulness of American farmers.

"Certainly no other industry could have taken the losses agriculture has taken and maintain production," he said, "and we have no evidence to show that any other group of workers would have taken the reduction in wages in the spirit in which the farmers have taken their reduction. Many thousands of farmers have not been able to weather the storm, notwithstanding their strenuous efforts. Thousands who purchased land during the period of high prices have been obliged to give up the struggle, let their land go back, lose all the money they paid for it and start anew. Many thousands of renters who had substantial savings invested in farm equipment and livestock have gone thru the same experience and have lost everything."

There are some hopeful aspects to the situation notwithstanding the continued low purchasing power of farm products, Secretary Wallace pointed out.

"It is fair to say that in general the farmers of the United States are in a better position financially now than they were a year or eighteen months ago," he declared. "Farm products are selling at considerably higher prices and it is estimated the aggregate value of the crops in the country this year is about $1,250,000,000 more than last year. Considerable quantities of these crops will be fed and the increased value will not be wholly recovered by the farmer, but the bare fact that such a large increase in money will reach farmers' pockets this year is most gratifying and reassuring. The advance in price of cotton has been most helpful throughout the cotton growing states. Considerably higher prices for wool, lambs and sheep have resulted in pulling the sheep industry out of the slough of despair and setting it on its feet again. Right thru the period of depression hogs have been selling at considerably higher prices, relatively than corn. On the whole it has been a fairly satisfactory year for cattle feeders. Credit conditions have improved and interest rates have fallen."

"Another hopeful sign is the increasing willingness and desire of people engaged in industry, commerce and finance to help bring about a more favorable adjustment for the farmer. Such people are coming to realize more and more the menace to themselves in conditions so unfavorable to agriculture as those of the past three years. Their attitude toward the farmer has changed from that of a benevolent paternalism such as was so much in evidence during the 11 years preceding the war. They now understand more clearly that their own future is inseparably linked with the farmer and that in doing what they can to help him get on his feet again they are helping themselves as well."

In relation to the price of farm products at the farms and prices charged for farm products in the cities, Secretary Wallace said the cost of distribution remains high, notwithstanding frequent violent denunciations of profiteers in the cities. In part this high cost of distribution, he declared, is caused by the multiplication of distributing agencies during the last six years, in part by the increase in rent, and supplies, but in larger part by the higher wages which employees in the distributing business have been able to maintain.

Taxes on farms in most farming states have more than doubled and is proving to be one of the most frequent subjects of complaint by farmers and during the next few years the whole question of taxation, Mr. Wallace said, will evidently receive considerable attention by all the thoughtful farmers.

DAVISS COUNTY HENS WINNERS

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 4—A flock of Barred Plymouth Rock hens owned by Mrs. W. O. Kirk, Daviess county, took high egg laying honors for the year in the group of 47 flocks scattered over the state that are being conducted as demonstrations by their owners who are cooperating with the extension division of the College of Agriculture in showing the value of recommended poultry practices, according to an announcement today by J. R. Smyth, poultry extension specialist of the college.

Each hen in her flock laid an average of almost 193 eggs during the year, or more than three times as many eggs as are laid by the average hen on Kentucky farms. Mrs. Kirk had 37 hens in her flock when she started keeping records last year and had 20 of these left when the year's work ended.

Each of the 47 demonstrators kept records on the number of eggs laid by their hens and the feed consumed throughout the year and in addition fed and took care of their flocks by practical up-to-date methods in order to show other farmers in the state that the average farm flock of chickens pays good profits if the hens in it are fed right and are given good care.

One of the outstanding features in the announcement of the leading flocks for the past year is the fact that the hens in practically all of the 47 flocks laid far more eggs than the average farm hen in the state does. Mr. Smyth said. Even the flock that ranked tenth among the 47 for the year showed an average production of slightly more than 130 eggs for every hen in it, he added.

Harry A. Kendig, Kenton, had the second highest production flock for the year, each hen in his flock of Barred Plymouth Rocks having averaged almost 186 eggs during the year. He had 100 hens when the year's records started and 62 when the work closed.

The third highest production flock for the year was owned by S. J. Howard, Henderson, each of his White Leghorns having averaged almost 164 eggs for the year. He had 167 hens when the work started and 71 when it ended.

The remaining flocks among the ten highest producing ones for the year together with the number of hens in the flock at the close of the year's work and the average number of eggs laid by each of them follows:

J. T. Wilson, Corydon, 127 White Wyandottes, 159.7 eggs; Mrs. Paul O'Connell, McQuady, 100 Light Brahmas and White Leghorns, 155.9 eggs; Mrs. E. E. Robey, Boston, 31 White Plymouth Rocks, 148.4 eggs; Joe E. Pitt, Fairfield, 72 White Leghorns, 142.4 eggs; O. D. Menden, Franklin, 20 White Plymouth Rocks, 138.7 eggs; Mrs. K. G. Smith, Campbellsville, 47 Barred Plymouth Rocks, 132.9 eggs and Miss Sue Ellen Quirk, Livia, 22 White Wyandottes, 130.1 eggs.

Preaching The Gospel of "Come South To Farm"

That's what the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, for many years, has been saying to farmers of the North and East; with golden promises of prosperity and happiness. That's what it still is saying to them; with ample records of these promises fulfilled.

Farm lands in the South are the richest in America; and they still are the cheapest; although each year's figures show that they are advancing more rapidly than in any other section.

How The Industrial and Immigration Department Of the L. & N. Serves the Farmer—and You

Seeking out desirable and successful farmers in less-favored climes, the L. & N. points out to them the advantages and attractions of the South and, inducing them to locate along its lines, affords them practical and intelligent help, in locating a farm of the right size, and teaching them how to plant, grow and market profitable crops. This service is rendered without cost to the farmer.

The L. & N. Railroad does not own an acre of farm land; offers nothing for sale except its services as a carrier and maintains this department solely and entirely for the benefit of the territory it serves and the advantages afforded the people of the nation by this all-year production and transportation of fresh fruits, vegetables, stock and poultry.

This department has issued many carefully-prepared booklets on various subjects of interest to the farmer. This helpful information will be mailed free on request to the Industrial and Immigration Department of the L. & N. Railroad—Louisville, Ky.

Sharp Contrasts Between Coal Production And Prices For Two-Year Period Show How Secretary Hoover's Efforts Held Prices Down

Every American can draw two valuable lessons from the chart above. In 1920, when coal production was three times what it was last summer, the price of bituminous coal rose to $12 a ton at the mine and averaged $6.50 during the period corresponding in the calendar to this year's strike months. There was artificially induced buying, and there was no attempt to check it or to inform the country of the facts.

In 1922, the chart shows, when suspended production brought a genuine scarcity, the price was held to an average of $3.70 a ton at the mines, despite "bootlegging" and the few operators who refused to come under the Hoover price agreements. There are reasons for the phenomenon of finding low production and low prices charted for the same year.

In the fall of 1921 the Secretary of Commerce, seeing that a strike was planned, organized trade associations into a campaign to quietly buy reserve stocks. The strike therefore found the United States with 75,000,000 tons, the largest surplus on record. Then, last May, when prices started to sky-rocket, Secretary Hoover began the organization of operators under voluntary price restraint agreements, at the same time announcing that he would press for legislation enabling the Interstate Commerce Commission to embargo profiteers. The mere announcement of these moves caused prices to drop.

When the strike ended, the price agreements ended too. A program of organizing transportation facilities to their fullest and at the same time asking the public through the press to hold off on buying until stocks were replenished continued the emergency measures. Mr. Conrad E. Spens, whose picture is on the left, was appointed Federal Fuel Distributor by President Harding and is seeing this part of the work through the winter.

The two lessons from this story are, first, that the public does not have to endure exorbitant prices or go without proper information concerning attempts to raise the cost of vital necessities past decent levels, and, second, that it is dangerous to have to trust in these matters to such emergency campaigns as Secretary Hoover has planned and headed. Leaders of high caliber are not always available.

The President has appointed a Commission of distinguished men, headed by John Hays Hammond, to get at the bottom of the coal troubles and recommend permanent solutions. The creation of such a commission was strenuously advocated by the Department of Commerce, and in a recent interview Secretary Hoover asked the attention and support of the whole country for the Commission.

MADISON BOYS IN LIVE TOWN IN SOUTH

J. P. Simmons, Jr., who is a member of the law firm of Shotts and Bowen, of Miami, Fla., has sent to a few relatives and friends here copies of an industrial edition of a daily paper of Miami which gives an account of the great and rapid substantial growth of that magic city in permanent population in the construction of substantial business houses, elegant hotels and homes the cost of some of which was well into the millions. One of the most modern and expensive structures there is the First National Bank building, just recently completed, located on Flagler avenue, the chief one of the city, and the cost of which runs into the millions. This building is large and commodious and is 10 stories high and the law firm of Shotts and Bowen occupies the entire 8th floor of this building. The First National Bank building is published in the daily paper of Miami.

The firm of Shotts and Bowen constitutes the leading law firm of all southern Florida and their offices are the most commodious and convenient in their appointments and the most elegant and handsome in their finish of all law offices in the whole south and not surpassed in the U. S. A. as stated by the Miami daily. We take pleasure in congratulating J. P. WHAT IS PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE?

Many people do not know the difference between a trained nurse and a public health nurse.

A public health nurse is a trained nurse who has had special instruction in public health work, and who spends all her time not in the care of the sick, as does the trained nurse, but in the prevention of sickness. You employ a trained nurse when someone in your family is very ill and needs special care and attention. The public health nurse is employed by the State, the county, the city, the town, or the village, or sometimes by private organizations such as the Red Cross, the local tuberculosis society, and by large stores and factories. The trained nurse is a sickness nurse; the public health nurse is strictly a health nurse. The former tries to help you get well, the latter to keep you well.

What is the work of the public health nurse? She teaches mothers how to keep babies well. She visits cases of infectious disease, and instructs the family how to prevent the disease from spreading. She assists the school medical inspector in the physical inspection of school children and afterwards visits the houses and urges parents to secure the correction of all defects found. For example, the mother of a child found to be near-sighted is urged to take the child to an oculist and have her supplied with eyeglasses. In tubercular cases the public health nurse visits the patient, supervises his care in the home, helps in securing his admission to a sanatorium, if this seems advisable and advises him in the care of his sputum, so others in the family may not become infected. If any of the other people in the patient's home show symptoms of the disease, she aids them in securing the necessary physical examination. She advises the expectant mother as to the right care of herself.

The work of the public health nurse has proved to be one of the most effective measures of protecting the health of the community and is an important factor in the prevention and control of a communicable disease, because she visits and instructs the individual in his home. There are many other things a public health nurse can do. She

TRUST COMPANIES' RESOURCES INCREASE

R. E. Turley, cashier of the State Bank & Trust Co., of Richmond, has received the following interesting information regarding the trust companies of the United States and the state of Kentucky:

"Substantial increases in trust company resources both for the state and the country are shown by 'Trust Companies of the United States,' the annual publication of the United States Mortgage & Trust company of New York, just issued for 1922. The figures are of exceptional interest in that 1922 marks the 100th year of trust company service in the United States.

The total resources for year ending June 30th were $12,739,620,733 against $12,323,430,513 last year, and the aggregate deposits for the first time exceeded $10,000,000,000.

Kentucky reported combined assets of $75,500,478, for a gain of over $8,960,114.

President John W. Platten of the United States Mortgage & Trust company, in commenting on the year's progress, says:

"This, the twentieth annual edition of 'Trust Companies of the United States,' is published during the centennial year of trust company activities in this country, the first grant of fiduciary powers of corporation having been made in 1822.

"The position of the trust companies considered in the light of their development since that time gives every promise that their influence will continue increasing degrees during the new century.

"Trust company resources in the United States for the year ending June 30, 1922, were $12,739,620,733, thus establishing a new high record, and effectually offsetting the loss shown in 1921 compared with 1920. The total exceeds that of last year by over $416,000,000 and is greater than $287,743,000 than the previous high mark of 1920."

YOUNGSTERS PROVE ABLE CALF FEEDERS

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 6.—The showing that farm boys and girls of the state made with their baby beef calves at the first annual fat and feeding cattle show held recently at the Bourbon Stock Yards in Louisville, has marked the first year of this kind of work with Kentucky farm youngsters as an unusually successful one, according to M. S. Garside, assistant state leader of junior agricultural club work at the College of Agriculture, who had charge of the baby beef project. Club members had a total of 184 calves at the show.

Chief among their winnings were the two grand championships that they won over adult feeders and breeders. Ephraim Woods, 14 years old, of Stanford, and a member of the Lincoln county club, was the owner of the grand champion individual of the show, while members of the Warren county club, who fed their calves under direction of County Agent W. H. Rogers, produced the grand champion carload of calves. The 18 calves in the grand champion carload, sold for 15 cents a pound while the grand champion individual calf, produced by young Woods, sold for $1 a pound, netting him $1,260. In addition, he won a total of $320 in prize money.

Experienced feeders and breeders who attended the Louisville show marvelled over the fact that 14 different boys could take 16 calves and feed them separately and still produce a carload of baby beefs with the uniformity that marked the Warren county youngsters. Considerable credit for the success of the Warren county youngsters is given to Charles Davenport, who co-operated in financing the purchase of the calves for the club members in the county. The 14 boys who developed the 16 calves in the Warren county load were Robert, James and Joseph Davenport, James Spaulding, Aubrey Burnette, W. B. Wright, William Amos, John Downing, Jesse Mitchell, Jack Alexander, Ephraim Walker, Vernon Betterworth, Arthur Cecil Betterworth and Dewitt Young.

MADISON HOUNDS SHOWED UP WELL

Writing in the Lexington Herald L. M. Crowe has some interesting notes about some of the winners in the big stakes at the National Fox Hunters' Association at Washington Court House, Ohio, last week. What he said of some of the Madison county hounds was as follows:

Second in this stake went to Star, owned by Dillard Hill, of College Hill, Ky. The amount of her winnings was $125. Star is a medium size, nicely marked black, white and tan hound. She has lots of speed, lots of hunt and all the endurance you would ask for, with the class to make her an excellent field trial hound. She won second in every class. She is by String, a dog that is siring a great many winners. He sired second in the all-age stakes this year in Lizzie Reeves. String is by Cable, out of a Ch. Calvin matron. Star's dam, Bess No. 2366, is by the celebrated stallion hound, Harvester 1929 out of Dodge, Dodge by Ike and Ike by Ch. Fitz out of Red Laura. Harvester the grand sire of Star is by Ch. Clark out of Alice.

Winner of second in the all-age stake proved to be a very snappy, classy, hard-going hound in Maupin Brothers, Richmond, Ky. Lizzie Reeves. This hound is by String, a son of Cable and out of Liz, she by Lee out of Old Liz. Liz is also the dam of Speaker, that won second at the National Derby and also second at the Central Kentucky Trials and was sold for a long price. Lizzie Reeves is valued highly by her owners, who love and know a good dog.

Map Shows Assessment

(By Associated Press)

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 6.—The State Tax Commission has issued a map of Kentucky showing the comparative value per acre for lands in 1917 and in 1922. The purpose of the map, according to Rainey T. Wells, chairman of the commission, is to show the taxpayers the values of land in adjoining counties as compared with the home land. The assessed value of the land in a majority of the counties has doubled since 1917, according to the report on the map.

"Lost Tribes" Found?

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Thirteen

families believed to be remnants of the "lost tribes" carried into captivity by Babylonians 26 centuries ago, have reached Erivan, Armenia, according to a cablegram received by the Chicago Branch of the Near East Relief, it was announced today. They fled from Urmis, Persia, going over the mountains with ox teams and on foot. A Rabbi, Hannock Siminly, carried with him records which appeared to connect the Israelite colony at Urmis with the lost tribes, according to the cablegram. Only 47 adults and 33 children put of a larger number that started, made the journey safely, the advocates said.

The Surety of Purity

There are no miracles in cooking. What goes into the food must inevitably come out.

Even the baking perfection that results from the use of Royal Baking Powder is no miracle.

It is simply the result of absolute purity entering the food—and emerging again.

Royal is made from Cream of Tartar derived from grapes.
